Effective immediately, Arychuk will join the mortgage brokerage and capital markets team based in Avison Young's downtown Toronto office to help develop and service major corporate real estate clients across Canada.

"We are fortunate to have one of Canada's top mortgage brokers join the Avison Young organization. Norm's extensive background and expertise will add strength to the talented downtown team and bring depth to our mortgage brokerage capabilities, both locally and nationally," comments Fieder. "Norm's professional record will fit in well with Avison Young's full-service philosophy and proven ability to focus on clients' needs effectively."

Arychuk's career in commercial real estate debt and equity extends 30 years, beginning in the mid-1970s in the Trust industry and encompassing the Canadian mortgage operations of Aetna Life, CIBC Mortgages Inc., Credit Suisse and two private mortgage brokerage firms. Arychuk has a well-established track record of achievement, completing numerous and varied property financing transactions for properties ranging from mainstream to hotels, self-storage facilities and special purpose developments. Term, construction, mezzanine, bridge and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corp. (CMHC)-insured project financing round out his experience.

"Being a member of Avison Young's Capital Markets Group will allow me to be part of a 'best-in-class' company," says Arychuk. "Avison Young's vision for growth and its focus on integrating debt and equity solutions for investment clients are completely in parallel with my goals. The company is committed to building its Toronto operations and national platform by hiring the best operators in our markets, and offering what our clients are demanding. I look forward to being a part of that process."

"We are very pleased that Norm has chosen to come on board and take a role in developing and servicing clients for Avison Young across the nation," adds Robin White, Executive Vice-President, Capital Markets Group in Toronto.
