

Jacksonville

After several years of record-setting economic growth, Florida's real estate markets abruptly paused in mid-March due to the spread of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19). While the full impact is yet to be felt, second quarter statistics provide an indication of the Jacksonville market's health. Third quarter activity is expected to provide greater clarity.

So Far So Good in Jacksonville's Office Market with an Uptick in Vacancy Possible During the Third Quarter

- Jacksonville-based healthcare technology company Forcura recently announced in May that it plans to add 115 jobs and open a new corporate headquarters in the city by the end of 2022
- New York-based Cantor Fitzgerald, an international financial services firm, announced it is opening a new 9,226-sf office in Capital Plaza at Deerwood Park, creating 80 high-wage jobs, and will use its Jacksonville office to handle some of the company's securities processing activities. Jacksonville has long been a top U.S. relocation city for financial institutions and several other banking giants including Citi, Deutsche Bank, Bank of America and Macquarie Group have already moved significant operations from pricey financial centers to Northeast Florida.
- Year-over-year vacancy for the period ending with 2Q-2020 is up slightly at 32 basis points and the average asking rent is up 0.9% over the same period.
- The bulk of the negative net absorption recorded during the second quarter was principally located in the Baymeadows, Southside, and Downtown Northbank submarkets, with the majority occurring in a handful of buildings that had larger blocks of space come back onto the market. Leasing activity was slow due in part to hestiation regarding the future impact of the pandemic.
- The largest investment sale during the first quarter was the acquisition of Lakeside III and IV in the I-95 Corridor submarket for $49.0 million, or $199 per sf. The two class A office assets were purchased by Ally Financial, Inc.

Trends to Watch

Wellness is Key

Wellness is a relatively new trend in commercial real estate, but it has now become a top priority for the long-term after the COVID-19 pandemic.

Exit to the Suburbs?

A larger shift of tenants relocating from the CBD to suburban office markets due to lower density and rental rates is increasingly possible.

Return to Normal

The strong economic fundamentals that were in place pre-shutdown may allow for a more robust recovery than previous recessions.
